Spring has sprung!

It's finally here, Spring has arrived! We have some great things going on in May, but first let me mention a little about April at the Hamlin Center. We had a great time decorating for Easter and enjoyed a great game of Pictionary during our celebration. These seniors are pretty sharp, they figured out drawings for Easter and Spring related words such as; garden, rain boots, chocolate, Peeps, and a whole lot more. The artists had us laughing the whole time.

Our good friends from Honesdale, Marie and Nancy came to visit and gave a fabulous Fall Prevention workshop. Not only did they give some great information, they brought prizes with them, and everyone loves prizes! The ladies also came to get us prepared for Healthy Steps in Motion, which will now be a part of our exercise classes. Thank you so much Marie and Nancy, please come back again soon.

I was so excited to see the beautiful flowers coming up outside the center, they are now fully bloomed and look amazing! Speaking of flowers, we were surprised by a visit from State Representative Mike Peifer, who brought us some lovely potted flowers and some new flags to display.

THIS IS THE EIGHTH OF A CONTINUING SERIES ON . . SCAMS: PROTECT YOURSELF. PROTECT YOUR MONEY

Home Improvement Scams

Home improvement scams frequently occur in the spring when the weather is nice and homeowners are thinking about having some work done around the house-or after storm flooding or other bad weather during which homes can be damaged.

There are several telltale signs that a contractor may be running a scam. One of the most common is when a contractor shows up unannounced and points out work that needs to be done and offers to do the work at a discount using leftover materials from a nearby job. Also be wary if the contractor asks for a large down payment.

Dishonest contractors can also work with leaders or brokers who they recommended to the victim to obtain financing for the project. Once the papers are signed-usually in a rush and using high-pressure sales tactics-the contractor abandons the job and the homeowner is stuck repaying a high-cost mortgage or home equity loan.

Protect Yourself

- Shop around! Get at least three written estimates for the job you want preformed.
- Be cautious if a contractor shows up if a contractor shows up at your door and tells you that your home is in need if repairs.
- Do not rely on a contractor to connect you with financing
- Make sure you have a written contract that includes a start and finish date, all costs labor and supplies, payment terms and a three-day right to cancel notice.
- Make sure the contractor gets the necessary permits and is properly insured.
- Avoid any contractor who fails to provide references.
- Verify that your contractor is properly licensed/registered with the PA Attorney General's Office

If you are a victim, contact the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General.
